

Betty Tai, Ph.D.

Dr. Tai is Director of the Center of Clinical Trials Network (CTN) at the National Institute on Drug Abuse, National Institutes of Health (NIH). She received her master's degree from the University of Massachusetts and her Ph.D. degree from George Washington University. Dr. Tai has spent more than 20 years at the NIH, initially in the intramural neuroscience research laboratories, later moving into extramural science administration for developing psychotropic medications to treat drug addiction disorders.

Her current responsibility focuses on translating drug abuse research into drug abuse practice by bridging the gap between researchers and practitioners and by generalizing the interventions developed in academic settings to the real world.